Observations... By UDELL

As a taxpayer, we would like to protest to the wasteful squandering of our hard-earned money that goes to the upkeep and support of our state and federal government. It's bad enough when you pick up the papers every day and read about the tremendous budget the president is asking for 1952; but, when you see your money being wasted right under your very noses, that's the time to start hollering. For months now, the Mississippi Highway Department guided by John D. Smith, has been repairing that poor, poor bridge over the Bay of St. Louis; but alas, their repairs aren't worth anything. Rode over the bridge one day last week, and it was pretty smooth sailing with the exception of the draw span. But, going over it Tuesday, almost had to hold our breath for fear that we wouldn't dodge one of the many holes in that obstacle course. Still don't believe that, under the present traffic conditions, the old hurricane damaged, fire trap will hold up until the new span is erected. Can't something be done to the bridge to avoid continuous repairs? In less than a week's time, the spots that were previously repaired are pretty well worn out. Keeping trying Mr. Smith, one of your experiments may succeed; but, in our opinion, we're going to have to start traveling by ferry across the bay before 1953.

Yesterday, the March of Dimes Drive for funds to support the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis ended unofficially. In case you haven't contributed your pennies and dimes, there is still time to do so. Contact Mrs. Theo Tudury, County chairman, and your donation will be appreciated. This year, more than ever before, residents of Hancock County should dig down deep and give freely to this worthy cause.

Right here in our area, in 1951, four children were victims of this crippling enemy of all, regardless of age or color. When you see the results of this disease, it makes you shudder and thank your lucky stars that you were able to escape its clutches. So before it's too late, give to the March of Dimes and insure your future. What you give today may safeguard your health in the future.

The inclement weather Sunday night did not stop the Family Rosary Crusade rally in Biloxi. Five busses loaded with residents of Hancock County and a number of cars drove over to Biloxi in the fog and rain to attend the rally launching the crusade to increase family prayer. The slogan for the rally is "The family that prays together stays together." Now, more than at any other time, prayer is necessary if we are to overcome the evils of the many ills threatening to overcome our way of life. Catholics are urged to recite the family Rosary daily, and non-Catholics are urged to increase their family prayers. Prayer has proved to be the solution to many a problem.

There's a rumor around town that a number of our distinguished citizens who are members of the Rotary club and of the Knights of Columbus, have to carry pillars—nice soft cotton pillars—down the street to the office, etc. The K. C.'s in additional time called to break the score, defeated the Rotary club in the Donkey Basketball game Tuesday night at Bay High. Well, Rotarians, buck up. Your manager just didn't have the hay under the right goal.

A. B. Tipping, our genial Chevrolet dealer, is introducing the VASEMOBILE at his place of business this coming week. "The" promises you a complete wash job on your automobile—inside and out—in just 15 minutes. This one piece of equipment does all of the work. It's fascinating just to watch the machinery in operation. Stop by and see it in your spare time.

Seniors Receive Rings In Ceremony

Attired in white caps and gowns, thirteen S. J. A. Seniors walked up the aisle to receive their rings in Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

This significant step towards a prosperous future, not only in material matters but also spiritual, was taken January 9th, at an impressive ceremony, which consisted of hymns sung by the student body, an inspiring talk given by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Gmelch and solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

In his talk Msgr. spoke of pride, and a true sense of accomplishment was seen on the faces of each of the thirteen as she held out her hand to receive the ring, visible evidence of twelve years of work.

Prior to this ceremony class '52 and their homeroom teacher, Sr. Julia Marie, gathered together to discuss the history and symbolism of their long awaited treasure.

"All through the ages, rings have been symbols of prestige and esteem. They are symbols of power, wealth, patriotism, strength, love and affection," said Sr. Julia Marie. "Our seniors are no exception. You should guard, protect, and love your rings. It is a precious treasure, and it is a constant reminder of your past and the future you are entering."

The seniors pledged themselves to maintain the high standards of the S. J. A. and to respect the traditions of the S. J. A. ring.

More Than 9,000 Attend Coast Rally

An estimated crowd of over 9,000 persons from the Coast gathered at the Biloxi U. S. O. building Sunday night, January 27, to hear Father Peyton, CSC, at the Family Rosary rally.

In addition to the main address by Father Peyton, the program included musical selections by the Notre Dame School and Sacred Heart Academy Bands, interspersed with script reading by Hugh Smith of WLOX.

The community singing of the hymn, "Hail Holy Queen, Empress Above," was started at 8:00 p. m. by Monsignor Geoffrey O'Connell, general chairman of the rally.

Monsignor O'Connell welcomed the assembly and introduced Dr. Peter Pavlov who spoke briefly on the value of family prayer in the home. Bishop Richard C. Garrow commending the people for their cooperation and expressing his deep gratitude to Father Peyton for his work in the Natheze Diocese, outlined the Family Prayer Crusade in Mississippi.

His Excellency presented Father Patrick Peyton who made an appeal for a universal return to family prayer, particularly the family rosary. He told of his own early family life and why he attributes his cure from a serious disease to the Mother of God.

Specifically, Father Peyton dealt with the benefits of family prayer for parents and children, husbands and wives. He concluded by urging every family in the coastal area to pledge daily family prayer.

On the stage with the speakers were Monsignor P. J. Carey of Pascagoula and Very Rev. Anthony Achee, rector of Xavier Hall, Pass Christian, together with over 40 priests from the near-by communities and the religious brothers from Biloxi and Bay St. Louis. Nearly 75 Sisters from the Gulf Coast occupied reserved seats in the front of the auditorium.

Local Chapter Spent $3206.68 To Aid Polio Victims In 1951

The Hancock County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis spent $3206.68 to assist a total of 4 polio patients last year, it was revealed today by Mrs. Theo Tudury, Chapter Chairman.

Making public the 1951 financial report, Mrs. Tudury declared that services made possible through funds raised in the 1951 March of Dimes underlined the need for a successful 1952 drive.

The record of what has been done makes us all eager to continue and to expand this work as needed "unfortunately, even if we had no cases of Infantile Paralysis in our County in 1952, there remains much to be done for patients stricken in 1951. The toll of polio continues only into the next year or years. During the past two years the Chapter sent $2500.00 to National Headquarters to help Chapters that had used up their local funds.

"Now we will have to ask for the return of our $2500.00 because of the fact we have $2000.00 of unpaid bills and only $884.00 cash balance. 50% of all funds collected goes to National Headquarters for its Scientific research and professional education programs as well as emergency aid to Chapters," the Chairman added.

The National Office Supplements local funds when high incidence wipes out local resources.

The March of Dimes Drive will continue for another week to give everyone a chance to get in donations.

Schaff, spoke over WGCM on the advantages and disadvantages of living in a small town such as Bay St. Louis.

They stated that friendships endure longer in a small community, and its residents are less apt to meet social and religious prejudices as found in larger cities.

As a disadvantage, they cited the fact that the younger generation often has to leave home in order to make a living. They added that the town provides youth with many advantages and, in return, youth is obligated to repay the town with respect and cooperation.

Ernest Lee, outstanding 4-H club member of Lestown, spoke to the Rotary on the reforestation project he recently completed. He answered numerous questions of Rotarians on reforestation.

Gregory Favre, student at St. Stanislaus, president of the Bay St. Louis Youth Center and son of Mrs. A. G. Favre, spoke on the value of the community to youth, and the value of youth to the community.

He stated that a sound and wholesome community which provides adequate recreational facilities, a developed residential section, and a group of capable officials, is the mold from which future leaders in general are poured.

In closing, Favre urged the Rotarians, as business and civic leaders, to join hands and "show that Bay St. Louis is behind its citizens of tomorrow and that all improvements which will add to their development will be brought about to a successful conclusion."

He added that a sound relationship between a community and its children "will help prevent the spread of the many ills and various trends from our way of life, which are today bringing sorrow and heartache to the hearts of many parents."

At the Rotary meeting, Lambert T. Boyd Jr., requested the organization to sponsor a Girl Scout troop which was formed from the overflow of the newly-organized troop in Bay St. Louis sponsored by the Episcopal church.

Ben F. Hille, president, presided at the meeting and introduced Mrs. E. C. Samuels, who, in turn, introduced the guest speakers.

RECORD YEAR BEING CHALKED UP FOR AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY

The balance between agriculture and industry which Mississippi has been seeking since 1936 was a big step nearer realization as the end of 1951 drew into sight.

Despite the rapid industrial gains for the state during the past decade, the race is a tough one. Agricultural income rapidly picked up as a result of diversified crops, livestock, and improved farming methods.

Last year's farm income was $48,800,000, four and one-half times greater than the 1940 income. Manufacturing income on the other hand totaled $29,000,000, just a little more than that taken from the farm. Manufacturing income for 1940, by comparison, was only $110,373,126, so both agriculture and industry are making a rapid ascent on the economic ladder.

From the standpoint of BAWI plants 1951 was the best year the Agricultural and Industrial Board has experienced. A total of 23 plants were either built, in operation, or under construction as the year's end neared.

These plants are and will employ a total of 6025 workers and will provide the state with $32,550,000 in additional annual payroll. Communities voted $21,005,000 for sites and buildings and the ratio favoring bonds for BAWI plants was 24% to 1.

Mississippi farms, although still the major money makers, are not completely putting industry in the shade.

A total of 70 BAWI plants employing 15,725 persons and providing the state with $32,550,000 in annual payrolls have been located in Mississippi since the program went into effect in 1949.

As a result of this and other industrial development not under the jurisdiction of the Agricultural and Industrial Board, Mississippi's manufacturing plants rose from 46,855 in 1939 to 92,000 last year, a 98 per cent gain, which is greater than that for the nation or the south.

Although Mississippians are mighty proud of their progress industrially, conditions are certainly not the same as they used to be down on the farm.

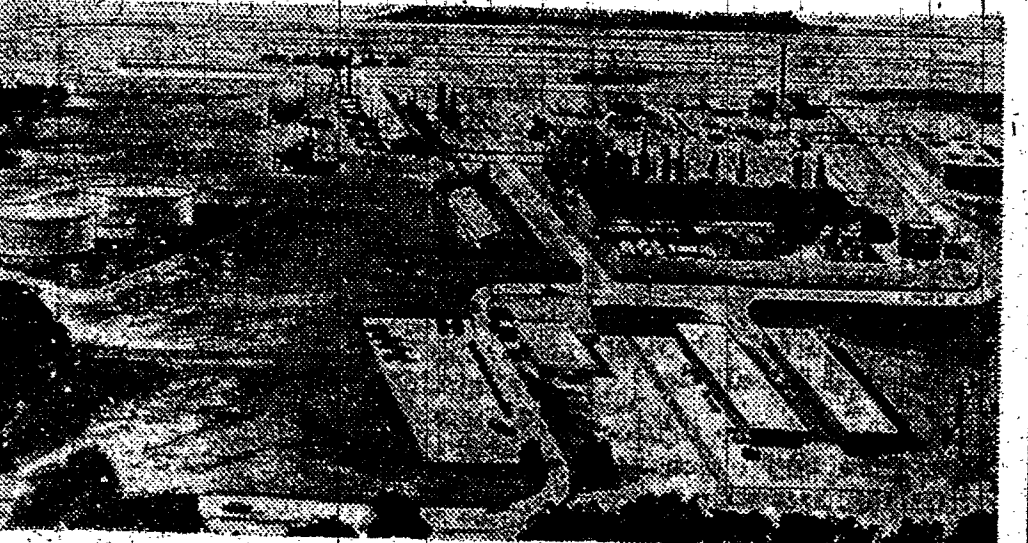

Mississippi is the second largest cotton producing state in the nation, second only to Texas, but the trend toward diversified farming is the move that has brought about the amazing results for our people who till the soil.

Excellent production is being achieved in corn, oats, wheat, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, annual legumes, including soybeans, rice and commercial truck crops.

Mississippi is expected to produce the nation's largest tung crop of 40,000 tons, and a bumper pecan crop is forecast.

Mississippi boasts 30 meat packing plants, in addition to 12 poultry processing plants. Plants like these have sprung up following Mississippi's stepped-up beef and poultry program.

Shown above is one of the state's newest plants, the Spencer Chemical Company, which is building a $9,000,000 anhydrous ammonia plant at Vicksburg. Increased demands from the farm are resulting in more industries like this for the state.

In 1950, for instance, totaled $113,954,000, exceeding the total farm income from all sources in 1940.

The state's broiler industry has jumped from fourth to second place in Dixie during the past five years with a record-shattering 644 per cent increase.

Both agriculturally and industrially Mississippi is by far in the best shape in her history.

William E. Barksdale, executive director of the Agricultural and Industrial Board, points out the basic fact that Mississippi is prospering both agriculturally and industrially because of the strides being made in both fields.

"The farmer by producing cattle and raising other diversified crops," says Mr. Barksdale, "is creating a demand for processing plants which create payrolls and provide a bigger market for his produce. Industry, on the other hand, is being developed because of the growing stock of raw products from the farm and forest."

Because of the state's fast development in dairying, Mississippi today boasts close to 200 milk and by-product processing plants, in addition to numerous retail outlets.

Because her increased beef cattle population, Mississippi now has more than 30 meat packing plants, according to other allied industries, including feed mills, rendering plants, and all purchasing agents and stock raisers.

New Gulf Pipeline Heated Oil To Tankers

Gulf Refining Company has pioneered a new field in heavy crude transportation in the construction of its heated pipeline now carrying oil from South Mississippi fields to its terminal on the Mobile river. Shown above are some of the installations involved in the operation. (1) Storage tanks, pumping equipment and heating unit at Lumberton, Miss., where the 10-inch line from Eucuttia ties into the 14-inch line that runs south to the coast. (2) One of the many steam-heated storage tank heater coils at Eucuttia which warm the oil before it goes into the line. (3) One of the nine heater stations at which the oil is re-heated on its long journey. (4) The end of the line at the Mobile terminal where the oil is put into tankers. (5) W. R. McAllister (right), district foreman of Gulf's pipeline department at Lumberton, and F. K. Irwin, Gulf construction superintendent in charge of laying the 152-mile line.

The eyes of those engaged in the nation's oil transportation business are focused on Mississippi, where Gulf Refining Company's 152-mile steam-heated pipeline now is delivering low-gravity, highly viscous oil from the state's southern fields to ships. The other pipe lines have been transporting Mississippi oil to processing plants for years. The new Gulf line, however, is unique in that it marks the first attempt in the history of the oil industry to move such highly viscous oil such a great distance.

The pipe line will gather "heavy" oil from the Heidelberg, Eucuttia, Yellow Creek and Baxterville fields and will open up greater marketing opportunities for Mississippi's low-gravity crude. It will not take any oil out of Mississippi, that is not already going to processing plants in other states by tanker.

In addition to establishing an advantageous outlet for low-gravity oil, the pipe line also furnishes Mississippi with a new stable, year-round industry providing employment equivalent to a refinery capable of processing 25,000 to 30,000 barrels of crude daily. When the line is in full operation the nine heater stations and the four combination pump-heater stations will employ approximately 72 men, with an annual payroll in the neighborhood of $250,000.00, according to W. R. McAllister, district foreman of Gulf's pipe line department at Lumberton, operation headquarters.

Large sums were spent for Mississippi materials that went into the line and many of the great number of men employed in its construction were Mississippians. The oil from the Heidelberg, Eucuttia and Yellow Creek fields is gathered by the Interstate Pipeline Company's gathering system and delivered to Gulf at Eucuttia. At Eucuttia Gulf has four 10,000-barrel storage tanks to receive this oil. In these tanks the oil is heated and pumped into Gulf's line for the long trip south to the Gulf coast.

The Gulf line from Eucuttia to Lumberton, a distance of 64 miles, is a ten-inch main capable of transporting 21,500 barrels daily. This oil is heated in the storage tanks at Eucuttia by steam coils, then flows through the pumps, after which it is warmed again in twin heat exchangers, 20-foot horizontal installations filled with many feet of steam coils.

Advices Farmers To Order Pesticide

Istzhugh Lee, Chairman of the Hancock County P. M. A. Committee, advises farmers to order their fertilizer and pesticides now or go without. This is a sharp threat to farmers, but it is one which they face at the present time.

Fertilizers and pesticides are piling up at the factories. When the small amount of storage which any factory has is filled, the factory will have to stop manufacturing fertilizer. Even at the best, there is no chance that it can speed up its operations. This applies to phosphate particularly. Even at best, officials expect to have about six percent less phosphate than last year because of the shortage of sulphur; therefore, all Hancock County farmers are encouraged to buy at least part of their year's fertilizer requirements now.

This will help all farmers to have the fertilizer they need and will enable the fertilizer mixers to have more storage facilities. Dealers are urged to make early purchases of fertilizer and pesticides so that farmers can place their orders early and an early delivery of the material can be made to farms in the county. Chairman Lee stated.

Cotton farmers are also warned to make their purchases of poison to fight the boll weevil and other insects early. Manufacturers of boll weevil poison know what cotton growers have done in the past. If farmers do not speak up early in the season and say what they want in 1952, the manufacturers of boll weevil poisons are likely to conclude that farmers are going to cut down their purchases just as they have in the past and this turns out to be a boll weevil year, and there is too little poison, farmers will be helpless to do anything about it, so let's be on time and order fertilizer and pesticides without delay.

Girl Scouts Select Meeting Places.

The Girl Scout Troop sponsored by Christ Episcopal church has been divided into two groups.

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club will sponsor one, and the Church the other. The division was made necessary by the large number of enrollments; a troop is only allowed from 25 to 30 members, and 57 had signed for membership.

The church-sponsored troop will meet at the Church and the others at the Youth Center every Wednesday from 8:00 to 4:00 p. m. Mrs. Lambert T. Boyd Jr., leader, announced.

Mrs. D. C. Chamberlain is leader of the Episcopal-sponsored group. Both leaders ask that interested mothers and adults volunteer as leaders or to serve on some troop committee. Assistance is needed with such a large number of Scouts.

At the meeting Wednesday, some of the Scouts passed various phases of their tenderfoot tests.

Rocks Defeat Biloxi High

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws took the measure of the Biloxi High Indians on Tuesday night when they met and defeated the Redskins on three basketball engagements at the St. Stanislaus gym in Bay St. Louis.

In the first two contests of the night the Rockchaws "B" and Jr. High teams proved to be too strong for their Indian opponents, as they rambled to a 3-19 win in the "B" game and a 28-19 victory in the Jr. High tussle.

The varsity contest was won by the Rocks by a 39-21 count after the Indians, trailing all the game by a wide margin dumped in 18 points in the final frame of play to make a fairly close contest of it.

Getting off to a slow start when both teams were unable to find the range on the baskets, the Rockchaws managed to sink six points in the opening frame while the Tribe was held scoreless. In the second period of play the Tribe found the range for only three points while the St. Stanislaus boys hit for seven more, and were leading 13-3 at the half.

Inability to capitalize on free throws as well as inaccuracy on their field goal attempts hurt the Tribe. During the entire game the Indians managed to sink but one free toss and therein lay their defeat.

At the end of the third quarter the Rockchaws had built up a 24-13 lead and looked as if they might coast to victory, but the Tribe began to find the range on the basket in the fourth quarter and were threatening to make a close game of it when the final whistle blew.

The court strength of the Indians has been weakened by the absence of three of their first squad men who were out because of sickness, however the Rockchaws seemed to be able to hit with much more consistency on their shots and played better all-round ball.

Quavis paced the Rockchaw quintet from the floor as he dumped in 16 points for the evening while the Tribe was paced by Frank Kopsyswa who chalked up 13 tallies and Charlie Ferrell, who garnered 11 points.

PRICES THANK MARCH OF DIMES

Your contributions to the 1952 March of Dimes fund campaign will help bring the best care available for little "Dubby" Price of Waveland. "Dubby," shown above at the Lutheran Memorial hospital in Vicksburg, is one of the four polio victims from Hancock County, who will derive benefits from the March of Dimes drive. It is not too late to contribute your bit to insure eventual recovery for this child as well as for all victims of polio.

Waveland, Miss.
Jan. 22, 1952

Hancock County Chairman
March of Dimes

Dear Mrs. Tudury:

We want to take this means of thanking you and the Hancock County Chapter of March of Dimes for what you have done for our son.

By your kind attention and quick response in getting him to the hospital his life was saved, because we could never have gotten him there or to an iron lung in time when he had the second attack.

So, thank God for the March of Dimes. We never thought of polio as affecting us. We did our little bit by contributing once a year, now the March of Dimes has been a Godsend to us.

Our six year old son is in the Vicksburg Lutheran hospital, receiving treatment and we, a family with a moderate income, could not have hoped to give him the care and treatment he has had and is now receiving.

Our son is one of the more severe cases. He has improved wonderfully through the treatment made available by the March of Dimes.

He spent four weeks in an iron lung and we feel that if it had not been for the iron lung, he would not be with us today. He needs, and will need, care and treatment for some time, and we can feel assured that this treatment is available without worrying about depriving the rest of the family and wondering where the next dollar is coming from to meet such large doctor and hospital bills. We can never express in words our heartfelt thanks to the March of Dimes.

We would like to let the public know that this treatment is available to everyone who needs it. We know that every race, color and creed receives the same treatment. I saw it given to all. You don't have to be destitute. This is not charity. It is a privilege given to all, because of the generosity of thousands of people who contribute to the March of Dimes. It is a service you cannot buy.

Wesley, our son, will improve now, because the March of Dimes and the prayers of our friends and neighbors are behind him.

We would like to express our thanks and deepest appreciation to those who gave their time and efforts in making life more comfortable and enjoyable for the patients; to those who give to those who collect and to everyone anyway connected with the March of Dimes.

Again we say, "Thank God for the March of Dimes"

Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Price.

To Give Courses On Cancer Center

According to Dr. S. K. Johnson, president of the Mississippi Academy of General Practice, a course on "Making the Doctor's Office a Cancer Detection Center" will be given on February 19 and 20, 1952, at the Lutheran Hospital in Vicksburg, Mississippi, and will be sponsored by the Lutheran Hospital and the University of Mississippi School of Medicine.

Credit will be given for fifteen (15) hours formal post graduate work in the academy of General Practice. Dr. Johnson stated that this is being given to meet the need of early diagnosis of cancer by the family physician.

An excellent staff of lecturers has been secured who will bring the latest scientific knowledge and methods of procedure which can be used by the general practitioner in making early diagnosis of cancer.

"The fact that a course of this kind can be offered in Mississippi shows the progress that is being made in medicine by Mississippi physicians," said Dr. Johnson.

Further information for this course can be obtained from Dr. W. H. Parsons, Lutheran Hospital, Vicksburg, Mississippi; Dr. S. K. Johnson, Pelahatchie, Mississippi; School of Medicine, University of Mississippi, University, Mississippi; or the American Cancer Society, Mississippi Division, 105 South State Street, Jackson, Mississippi.

Hotel accommodations may be secured at the Vicksburg Hotel, Vicksburg, Mississippi.

SHUBERT - ALBA NUPTIALS HELD

Miss Anne Charlotte Alba, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilmore Alba of New Orleans, became the bride of John Francis Shubert, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shubert of Bay St. Louis, Saturday, January 26, at 8:00 a.m. at St. Louis Cathedral, New Orleans. The Rev. Carl Schuttien officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The Cathedral was decorated for the wedding with clusters of white gladioli and potted palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet gown made over bluish-pink chiffon. The long, closely-fitted bodice, was made with an off-the-shoulder effect and the back skirt was shirred in the back into a point from which fell the train. Her cathedral veil of illusion was combined with a cap of heirloom lace worn by four generations on her maternal side. She carried a round bouquet of gardenias centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Marguerite Bleuler, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor; the matron of honor was the bride's godmother, Mrs. Edward Derbes Jr. Her other attendants were Mrs. Warren Scott, another cousin of the bride, Miss Magda Bruzun and Miss Udell Favre of Bay St. Louis. They wore moss-green velvet dresses fashioned with an off-the-shoulder fold and long, full skirts. They wore sashes lined with pink taffeta, and carried green velvet mufts covered with gardenias, dyed pale pink, and pink velvet bows. They wore pale pink nose veils with a spray of pink gardenias in their hair.

Francis Shubert, the bridegroom's brother, was best man; groomsmen were Jefferson Chouet, Clinton Willman, Charles Zito and Adrian Alba, the bride's twin brother. The ushers included Richard Alba, brother of the bride, and Thomas Killen.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Webster street. The reception rooms were decorated with a profusion of white spring blooms and greens.

The mother of the bride was assisted in receiving by the bridegroom's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Killen, of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Alba was attired in a brown suit, trimmed in bronze beads. With this she wore a moss green hat, green orchid corsage and brown accessories. Mrs. Shubert wore a brown silk dress and a lavender orchid corsage.

The bride's table was covered with a pale pink skirt and one of white tulle. The four tiered cake was surrounded by pink gardenias and ferns.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Shubert left on a wedding trip.

Adams - Devron Wedding Held

The marriage of Miss Jeanne Alexandria Devron, daughter of Mrs. Lacy Douglas Richeson and the late Dr. Leonard Ernest Devron of New Orleans, to Lionel Adams Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Adams of New Orleans, was celebrated Saturday, January 26, at 11:00 a.m. in St. Clare's church, Waveland.

The reception followed at the Waveland home of Mr. and Mrs. Richeson.

Rev. M. J. Costello performed the ceremony which was attended by near relatives and intimate friends. The church was decorated with quantities of Southern smilax, and clusters of white flowers.

As the "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin" was played, the bride entered the church with Mr. Richeson who gave her in marriage. Her gown of tulle and old family lace was made over illusion tulle and her long veil of illusion fell from a lace cap. The bodice of the gown was fashioned of the lace and was made with long sleeves and trimmed in the front with a pleating of the tulle. The long, full skirt ended in a train. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley and a mother-of-pearl prayer book.

The bride's attendants included Mrs. Alinsworth Rogers Cox, Miss Nadia St. Paul and Alice Meade and Mrs. Samuel Gatewood Wellborn. Their dresses were of minut blue tulle taffeta made with strapless bodices and full patio length skirts. With the dresses, for traveling, the bride chose a brown velvet suit worn with an aqua color cloche embroidered in bronze beads. Her accessories were brown and she wore an orchid corsage.

Upon their return, the young couple will occupy an apartment in Gentilly.

Honored at Shower

Miss Mary Leigh Weston, a bride-elect of February, was honored at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. J. R. Rollins Saturday afternoon. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Rollins' daughters, Mrs. W. L. McFarland and Miss Alicia Rollins.

A color scheme of yellow and white was used in the decorations. A handmade luncheon cloth covered the table which was centered with a silver container holding yellow roses. Silver candelabra with lighted yellow tapers completed the table.

The honoree was presented a corsage of white gardenias by the hostesses, and her mother was given a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Weston wore a pale pink spring model knitted they wore short matching jackets and crownless purple tulle hats trimmed on either side with small bunches of violets. They carried old fashioned bouquets of violets.

Mr. Adams had as his best man his brother, Orr Adams, and as groomsmen and ushers his cousins, Lloyd Adams Jr., Alan Adams, H. Mortimer Favrot Jr., Grady Harper, Richard Hadden and William P. Byrne.

At the reception which followed, the bridal party was assisted in receiving by her mother, who was attired in a gown of powder blue brocade made with a flared skirt and a shirred jacket effect and short sleeves. Her small matching blue hat of forget-me-nots was trimmed in blue veiling and blue velvet. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother, who also assisted in the reception line, wore a gown of spring green iridescent silk taffeta made with a ballerina length skirt, a fitted bodice with three-quarter length sleeves and a softly draped neckline. She wore a spring green straw hat embroidered in crystal beads and brown accessories. She also wore green orchids the same shade as her gown.

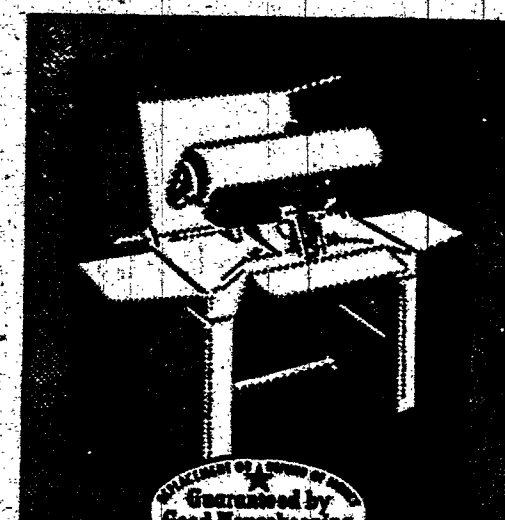

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Adams left on a motor trip to Point Clear, Alabama, and later to parts of Florida.

Camellias shading from delicate pink to deep rose, were used in profusion throughout the house, and upon arrival corsages of camellias were given the young ladies.

The dining table was covered with a hand-embroidered cloth with dainty pink and blue floral sprays around the border. The cloth was made by Mrs. Lulu Williams-Hart, grandmother of the honoree.

A white birthday cake on a tall milk glass stand was surrounded with a wreath of pink camellias, and a pink camellia from the garden of Mrs. Willis Gaylord Clark was placed among the candles on top of the cake. Scattered about the table were arrangements of camellias, a contribution made by Mrs. Julia McDonald Everett from her 90 year old shrub in her garden on St. Louis Street.

MINSTREL TICKETS

ON SALE FOR ROTARY

Tickets for the Rotary Club Minstrel which is slated for Friday, February 8, in the Public School Auditorium, are selling satisfactorily. Tickets run $1.00 for reserved seats, 75c general admission and 50c for children. The minstrel will be an extravaganza featuring six end-men, a riot of rotary entertainment from a hand-picked cast who have been directed by Mr. John Bell. Rotary boosters from neighboring towns, together with their friends, will, doubtless, be in the audience's "Applause Section" when the curtain goes up. The DeMetz Dance Team have a brand-new routine worked out. They will wear real theatrical "dark-town" make-up, and down-South "little nigger" costumes. This show promises bigger and better laughs than last year's top entertainment when prominent citizens put on the talked-about-until-yet Womanless Wedding.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Biehl, Jr., were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rogers of Jackson, Tennessee.

Larry Mautray and his roommate, William Garrond of Fort Smith, Arkansas, spent several days with Larry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Mautray. HOME AGENT'S NOTES

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

If you received a potted azalea as a Christmas gift, don't just stick it out in a place you think has acid soil. It is necessary for you to prepare the "new home" with peat or leaf mold. Top soil taken from beneath trees in the deep woods, usually will serve as an excellent source of food for azaleas. An be sure to keep a mulch of pine needles, cotton hulls, or similar material on the plant at all times. The mulch helps warm the roots in the winter and cool them in the summer.

Warren Air Force Base, Wyoming, January 2, 1952. Pvt. Melvin J. Altman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Altman Sr., of 308 Sycamore Street, of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, is presently training as an Air Force Technician at the USAF Technical School at Warren Air Force Base, Wyoming. It has been announced by the Commanding Officer:

At this historic former cavalry post outside Cheyenne, the Air Force is training young airmen in the many specialties needed for air power. Besides clerical skills such as clerk-typist, the schools at Warren Air Force Base train automobile mechanics, powerman, telephone operators and teletype repairmen.

If your plants develop yellow leaves (at first the veins of the leaf remain green), the best "doctoring" is to spray the foliage with three ounces of iron sulfate dissolved in five gallons of water. This must be done immediately.

You should also begin to work to get the soil over to an acid condition at once. If you do not have the soil tested, you should pull the mulch away from the azaleas and spread aluminum sulfate over the soil. Use about one pound to 10 square feet. Water the plants at once after applying the fertilizer.

If red spiders attack your azaleas this spring, spray them daily with the garden hose. If this does not wash the spiders from the plants, dust them with dusting sulphur every 10 days. Dust the foliage when the foliage is wet so the sulphur will stick.

If red spider infestation is bad, dust the plants with 5 parts of dusting sulphur, 1 part arsenate of lead and 4 parts of nicotine sulphate.

You can detect red spider by the reddish tinge the leaves take on when attacked. A hand lens will magnify the spiders so that you can see them.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
If you have trouble reaching those hard-to-get-to places when dusting couch, chair and floor corners, you will find an old whisk broom trimmed to a sharp "v" point a handy tool for that purpose.

Those small "peppy" type eraser caps used on pencils make dandy tips for umbrellas. They keep umbrellas from sliding down when they are stood against the wall.

When not in use, drop those steel wool pads in a pint jar of water to which has been added a teaspoonful of baking soda. It will keep the pads from rusting.

Before dyeing a garment, apply a coat of clear nail polish under your fingernails and around the edges. After you finish the dyeing, remove the nail polish with polish remover. You don't have to wait for days for the dye to wear off.

When hanging garments out to air, use two hangers for each garment—hooking them, over the line in opposite directions. This will keep the garments from blowing down on the ground.

OUTGROWN TOYS
As your children outgrow their toys, what do you do with them? Pass them on to other children? Keep them to entertain visiting children. Lots of folks do and they're always welcomed by the children, aren't they?

But some of them might be put to convenient use around your home. For example, a child's blackboard fastened to a kitchen door or wall can be most convenient for jotting down items for food shopping—or other day-to-day reminders.

An outgrown coaster-wagon can save lugging heavy baskets of clothes back and forth to the clothes line. A toy broom is handy to use with a duster or for brushing ashes at the hearth.

Cheap Chicks... don't cheap long. Remember this slogan when high powered advertising offers chicks for as little as $2 or $3 a hundred. Usually such chicks are "distressed chicks". They may have been kept too long without food or water.

They may be from poor quality flocks and subject to all types of poultry diseases and they may have been too long on the road. Even if the chicks are alive when you get them, they may develop serious digestive trouble when you feed them.

Remember that the number one item on the list of successful poultry raisers is "get good quality baby chicks".

Children's cooking sets often include small pans or molds of just the right size for individual servings—on an invalid's tray, for example. Crayons are worth keeping handy for labeling boxes or other containers stored in closets or attics. The color can aid quick identification. Smooth small blocks may be used by home dressmakers as weights to hold down patterns for pinning accurately.

Producers of quality broilers and eating eggs must market high quality products. The public demands quality and is willing to pay for quality. To produce quality broilers and eggs the producer must have top quality baby chicks.

Don't be fooled by high powered advertising and cheap prices. Buy top quality chicks bred especially for the purpose that you want them. Buy as close to home as possible. Shipping hazards increase with distance. Buy only U. S. Pullorum Passed or "U. S. Pullorum Clean Chicks".

If you plan to buy from an out-of-state hatchery make sure that the hatchery is participating in the National Poultry Improvement Plan. Know what you are getting before you buy.

HOME GARDENS
Help stretch the family food dollar by having a full home garden at least eight or nine months of the year.

WHAT TO PLANT AND WHEN.
See your county or home demonstration agent for a copy of the Mississippi Fruit, Vegetable and Flower Guide. January and February planting lists include cabbage, carrots, heart and leaf lettuce, mustard, onions, English peas, Irish potatoes, radish, turnips, tendergreens, spinach, beets and parsley.

Other January and February jobs: Build hot bed and cold frame for use in February and March. Plant tomato seed in first of February for April setting. Buy enough good seeds for at least two plantings of each vegetable, also buy adequate fertilizer and insecticides. Side dress fall planted vegetables now growing in the garden. Re-work fall made rows lightly.

PASTURES
FEED. Plan now for enough feed to tide you over any period of short grazing. Surplus clover and grasses this spring can be cut for silage. Plan to cut plenty of hay and silage both so as to have feed to fall back on in case of unfavorable pasture growing weather.

Corn and Cane make good silage and good corn for grain can be grown throughout most of the south by following the Extension recommended seven-steps to more corn, especially close spacing and heavy fertilization.

PASTURE DO'S. Be sure that you have planned enough pastures for all livestock all the year. Fix all the fences and use treated posts for new ones. Buy lespedeza and Dallis seed for March 1 planting. Watch newly planted pastures and don't let livestock bog them. Keep hogs from rooting up the pasture. Prepare to substitute good grazing crops for all the broomsedge now on the farm. Follow Extension recommendations on livestock parasite control. Cut all bushes and small trees that will hinder the mowing machine. Plan to grow enough hay and silage in your pasture program.

Congressional Sidelights

Congressman Wm. M. Colmer

THE BUDGET
President Truman last week sent to the Congress his budget for the operation of the government and what he regards as the necessary expenditures therefor for the fiscal year 1952-1953. It is the largest peace time budget in the history of the United States, if we can call this peace time. It requests a total of eighty-five billion four hundred million dollars.

This is fourteen and one-half billion dollars more than the President is asking for than he asked of the last Congress for the fiscal year 1951-1952. Moreover, it is approximately forty-five and one-half billion dollars more than was spent in the 1950-1951 fiscal year just prior to the Korean fighting. In fact, almost two-thirds of the budget is for the military services.

Anyone concerned with the future of this country and the ability of its economy to withstand this type of spending is almost awed by the magnitude of the budget. In fact, this budget calls for the expenditure of more money than the total income of the country during the depression years of '31 and '32.

PROBLEM

Those of us in the Congress who have fought an uphill battle during the last several years to cut down these expenditures and to at least balance the budget, not to mention reducing the national debt, approximating 260 billion dollars, are confronted with the overall problem of whether these enormous billions are necessary for the defense of the country.

No member of Congress, whether he be Fair Dealer or Conservative, wants to see the country's defense impaired. But those of us who are interested in maintaining the economy of the country on a sound basis feel that there is room to cut even some of the military and foreign aid without endangering the security of the nation.

These two, military defense (51.1 billion dollars) and foreign aid (10.8 billion dollars), account for a total of 61.9 billion dollars of the total budget of 85.4 billion dollars.

Therefore, if any substantial cutting is to be done some of it will have to come from the President's recommendation on these items. The difficulty that the economy-minded congressmen face is just what portion of the military budget can be cut. For instance, the budget calls for an air force of 143 wings as compared to a goal of 95 wings for the close of this fiscal year. It also calls for a substantial increase in the atomic weapon field.

Most congressmen agree that neither of these items should be cut. In other fields of endeavor they are not so sure. But here they are faced with the problem of whether or not, after all, the military heads are not in better position to know what is necessary than the members of Congress. Of one thing most members of Congress are sure that is that the military are the greatest wasters of manpower and money. As a matter of fact, most of the high ranking brass are career men, educated at Annapolis and West Point at Government expense, who have never had business experience and they have never been required to meet a payroll.

There is another angle to this. The military have still on hand several billion dollars authorized in the last Congress, which they have been unable to spend. There is a possibility that this could be deducted from the requested requirements for the next year. This feature is being studied.

It is estimated that if the full budget is appropriated, deficit spending of 14 1/2 billion dollars will be required for the next fiscal year. This notwithstanding the increase of approximately 8 billion dollars in revenue over last year as the result of last year's tax bill.

When one considers the present national debt of approximately 260 billion dollars with the interest thereon of nearly 6 billion dollars a year plus an anticipated deficit of over 20 billion dollars for this and the next fiscal year, the conclusion is inescapable that every effort must be made to cut down Federal spending. Otherwise, we shall only play into the hands of the Communists by destroying the soundness of our economy and become ripe for taking over by the Communists through the resultant chaos and confusion. We still adhere to the oft expressed opinion that this is in reality the goal of the Kremlin masters.

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

by
W. F. Bond, Commissioner State Department Public Welfare

Judging from letters coming in from all over the state, most people believe that money appropriated by the Legislature at this session can be used immediately. This may be done in a few instances, but for the big appropriations like money for schools, public welfare, health, etc. cannot be used before July 1 of this year. That will be the beginning of the next two-year period or biennium for which money is now being appropriated. Thus, there will be no new money for the Welfare Department to disburse before July of the present year.

Financial Backsliders

It does not take a very smart man to make money but it takes a wise one to hold on to it. How true it is, in the light of experience, that "A fool and his money soon part."

The Federal Reserve Board has made some statistical observations on the subject of savers and spenders. For every two Americans who saved money in 1950, there was one who spent more than he made.

One financial analyst figures that 62 percent of the nation's wage earners saved, 30 percent went into the red and 7 percent broke even. The Federal Reserve reported that 10 percent of the buying public spent or went into debt for 25 percent more than they made. These were the financial backsliders.

We live in flush times. At no other period have wages, profits, expenses and taxes been so high. Certainly in this Mississippi Gulf Coast country there has never been a financial boom compared to the overflowing prosperity that surrounds us.

Even the most optimistic worker or business man cannot be at all sure that this easy money situation will continue indefinitely. Prosperity is never permanent. Eventually there will come a period of readjustment. There could be another depression - there always have been depressions - money could get tight again.

When that day comes, wise indeed will be those who have saved to meet the emergency or grasp its opportunities. There isn't anything quite so convenient as a little surplus cash in a financial slump. A friend in need is a friend indeed.

So don't part with all your money. Put by some of it for the evil days that may come. Share that peace of mind and sound security that come to those who prepare for the uncertainties of the future. The satisfaction of a substantial cash reserve in a growing savings account far outlasts the thrill that comes with foolish spending. Don't be a financial backslider.

The State Health Officer Says

How parents can help save their children's teeth is the underlying theme of National Children's Dental Health Day on February 4, according to Dr. Charles Nash, III, of Tupelo, Mississippi, chairman of this fourth annual Dental Health Day.

Dr. Nash pointed out that as high as 50 per cent of two-year old children have at least one decayed tooth. At the age of 16, the average person has 7 decayed teeth with cavities involving 14 tooth surfaces. All over the nation dentists will observe Children's Dental Health Day by reviewing their efforts to let the people know how best to control tooth decay.

Fundamentally in control of tooth decay are regular visits to the dentist, which should begin by the age of three and continue throughout life. Fluoridation of public water supplies, avoidance of sweets, and proper toothbrushing are also good control measures.

Fluorides are being added to the public water supply in 139 communities of various sizes in 36 states, and hundreds of others are considering fluoridation. In Mississippi, Columbus has its fluoridation project in operation; Forest is ready to operate; and Meridian and Jackson are providing housing and equipment for fluoridation in the enlarged waterworks plants now under construction.

Though fluoridation is not a cure-all for tooth decay, Dr. Nash stated, it has reduced rate of decay up to 65 per cent among children who have drunk fluoridated water since birth. This resistance of the teeth to decay continues throughout life.

Dr. Nash also encouraged avoidance of sweets in order to control decay. The action of sugar and starch with bacteria to form acids which attack the teeth is the cause of decay. For that reason, children should not be given an abundance of sweets. When children do eat sweets, they should brush their teeth thoroughly immediately afterward to reduce the action of the acid which produces decay.

Dr. Nash concluded his statement concerning National Dental Health Day by emphasizing the need for brushing the teeth after every meal. A recent study among 900 students at five universities shows that decay can be reduced as much as 50 to 60 per cent by immediate brushing. Rinsing of the teeth after eating will help.

Which of These Amounts Does a Telephone Cost?

One of the figures shown above represents the average amount invested by Southern Bell in facilities for each telephone added in Mississippi during the past year.

If you guessed 481 dollars, you were right! Yes, telephone facilities cost a lot nowadays—more than twice as much as they cost just four years ago. Operating these facilities costs more, too—for wages, taxes, materials and other items are way up.

There you have some of the reasons why telephone rates had to be advanced—but the rates Mississippians pay for telephone service have gone up far less than the prices of corn, cotton and most other commodities. In fact, Mississippi's telephone rate increases average less than half of price increases in general.

Bear in mind, too, that the increased rates are in the interest of good telephone service for Mississippi. Rates that provide a fair return to investors are necessary to attract new money to keep up the program of improvement and extension which already enables the average Mississippians to call more than twice as many local telephones today as he could call six years ago.

Today! THE GREATEST CAR EVER BUILT IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD

The big 1952 FORD

Out-rides them all!

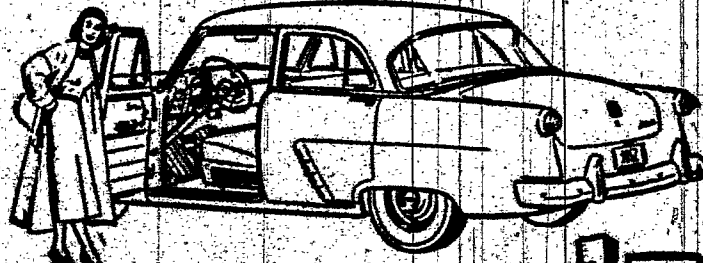

The '52 Ford gives you riding comfort such as you have never before experienced in a car in the low-price field. With front springs tailored to the weight of your model, longer rear springs and diagonally mounted shock absorbers, Ford's Automatic Ride Control gives you the smoothest, easiest ride of them all—a level ride on straightaways, an even keel on curves.

Out-sizes them all!

The '52 Ford has longer wheelbase, wider front tread and greater length. Its big outside and big inside, with spacious seating for six and the largest luggage locker of them all.

Full-Circle Visibility!

With narrower corner pillars, picture windows all around and a rear window that's 48% larger you have "all-direction" vision that adds to your enjoyment and your safety.

You can pay more but you can't buy better or better!

Out-performs them all!

Ford's completely new 101-h.p. high-compression, low-friction Six, with free-turning overhead valves, is the most modern Six in the industry. And Ford's high-compression V-8, now 110 h.p., is the most powerful engine in the low-price field. Both are available with performance-proved Fordomatic Drive.

Exclusive Power-Pilot Economy!

Both the new Ford Mileage Maker Six and the Strato-Six V-8 have the exclusive Ford Automatic Power Pilot. This completely integrated carburetion-ignition-combustion system gives you high-compression "go" on "regular" gas.

New Coachcraft Bodies!

Ford's new Coachcraft Bodies are longer, stronger... distinctive in their modern beauty. They offer new built-in construction which seals out dust, weather and noise. And Ford has more color and upholstery combinations than any other car in its field.

Out-values them all!

With such modern design and engineering features as new Flight-Style Control, new Power-Pilot Clutch and Brake Pedals, new Center-Fill Fueling, and new conventional hood and deck lid, Ford adds up to more dollars and cents value than any car in its price class.

Fordomatic Drive, Overdrive, white interior (U.S. only), and two-tone colors are Customline items optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.
